

FACTS ABOUT BASIC FOOD

Can I have a job and still receive Basic Food?

Yes. Your household can have income up to 200% of the Federal Poverty Guidelines and be eligible for Basic Food.

People in Household	Monthly Income Limit*
1	$2,127
2	$2,873
3	$3,620
4	$4,367
5	$5,113

*Amounts updated every April

Do I have to have children to be eligible?

No. Households of any size may be eligible to receive Basic Food.

What about other people who need it more than me?

There is no limit to the number of eligible people who can receive Basic Food. Getting Basic Food for you or your family won't impact the ability of anyone else to receive these benefits.

Do I have to be a U.S. Citizen?

No. However, the Federal Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) is limited to U.S. citizens and immigrants who meet specific program rules.

Getting Basic Food benefits won't impact someone's immigration status with the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Service.

Undocumented immigrants and non-citizens who are tourists or other non-immigrants can't receive Basic Food.

Can I own my house and a car and still be eligible?

Yes. If you are income-eligible, any other resources such as vehicles, retirement accounts, your home and other assets are not considered.

Do I have to go to an office to apply?

No. You can apply online at www.washingtonconnection.org, by phone, without having to submit an application, at 1-877-501-2233 or by mailing a paper application to: DSHS-CSD Customer Service Center, PO Box 11699, Tacoma WA, 98411-6699.

What kind of paperwork do I need to provide?

You will need to present us with your social security number, proof of your identity and proof of the income and living expenses for the household you are applying for. If needed, we can help you get the required paperwork.

Some people only receive $16 a month – Is it even worth applying?

Some people do receive the minimum monthly benefit for one- or two-person households, which is $16. People who receive the minimum amount often save the benefits for a few months to cover the cost of a trip to the grocery store. Others use the benefits to add fresh fruits and vegetables to their food budget.

Most people receive a higher monthly benefit.

Are there any additional benefits to getting Basic Food?

When you get Basic Food, you may qualify for other programs, such as:

- Free or reduced school meal program.
- Special nutrition program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC).

Can I get help with training or finding a job?

- Yes! If you get Basic Food, you can volunteer for the Basic Food Employment & Training (BFET) Program.
- BFET provides job search, job search training, educational services, skills training, and other employment opportunities to people who receive Basic Food.

Many organizations may provide help with transportation, child care or other resources that can help you work toward your career goals. Services are provided through community or technical colleges and/or community-based organizations and cover a wide variety of job sectors and career fields. For information on BFET services, go online to:

www.dshs.wa.gov/BFET.

If approved, how long will it take to receive my benefits?

- On average, we approve applications for eligible households in about 10 days.
- Nearly half of all applications are approved in less than six days.
- When we approve an application for Basic Food, benefits go back to the date of the application.
